TESTIMONIALS

“ If food is taken care in a wedding the occasion by itself is a big success”.

This mention in their website made us to call Rajesh the founder of RR Kitchens and book them for my wedding. Right from setting up the menu, seer bakshanams, tamboolam they provided to all our requirements. RR Kitchens proved that they are professionals and stand apart in the space of Wedding planning. The wedding was a big hit and food was the most talked topic during and post wedding which proved the above statement as true.

BRAHMIN WEDDING RITUALS

Viratham: A custom which takes place before the wedding day. This is done in the early hours of the day, in this custom a sacred yellow thread is tied to the wrists of bride and groom. Later nine varieties of grains are sprayed on the bride and groom to bless them with prosperity. At the end "Aarti" is performed.

Mapillai Azhappu: The groom arrives to the wedding venue in a vehicle along with his family and friends. He is then taken to a temple where he is presented with new clothes.

Engagement (Nichayartham): The bride's family gifts the groom with new clothes along with turmeric, betel leaves which is a custom. The bride's brother later garlands the groom. Later, a sugar candy is given to all guests. An 'Aarti' is performed and a coconut broken to ward off evil eyes.

Kashi Yatra: The groom is given the traditional "Panchakatcham". He holds an umbrella, walking stick and a piece of cloth tied around his neck to renounce worldly pleasures and go for Kashi Yatra. As he steps out, the father of bride stops him and asks him not to renounce the worldly pleasures and reasons him the superiorities of family life. The groom accepts and returns to the mandapam to get married. The umbrella remains with the groom to remind of his promise.

BRAHMIN WEDDING RITUALS

Maalai Matral: This is a really enjoyable event in a Brahmin marriage, this is a custom where garlands are exchanged between the bride and groom. The bride and groom are lifted on their shoulders by their maternal uncles to signify maternal support to their families. Both sides try to dodge the attempt of garlanding each other, which makes it exciting to watch.

Oonjal: The couple are later made to sit on the Oonjal (swing). The oscillating motion in the swing denotes that the couple should stay united in the ups and downs in their lives.

Sowing Palligai Seeds: This is done to invoke the blessings of the "Ashtadikpalakas" (lords of eight directions) for a healthy life and beget good children.

Other important customs observed in a Brahmin marriage are: Kannika Dhanam, Kankana Dhaaranam, Mangalyadharanam, Saptapadi, Paladhanam, Pradhana Homam, Sighting the Arundhati and Dhruva star, Laaja Homam, Nalangu, Jayadhi Homam, Pravesa Homam, Sesa Homam, Thamboola Charvanam, Mangala aarti, Shanthi Muhurtham, Wedding reception and Kattu saatham.
